

Yannick Engelmann studied a bachelor of chemistry at the University of Antwerp, and a master of chemistry at the Catholic University of Leuven. He started his PhD work in 2015, on modelling chemical reactions at a catalyst surface and the behaviour of plasma species inside catalyst pores, for plasma catalysis applications.